Time - Hong Kong Creation

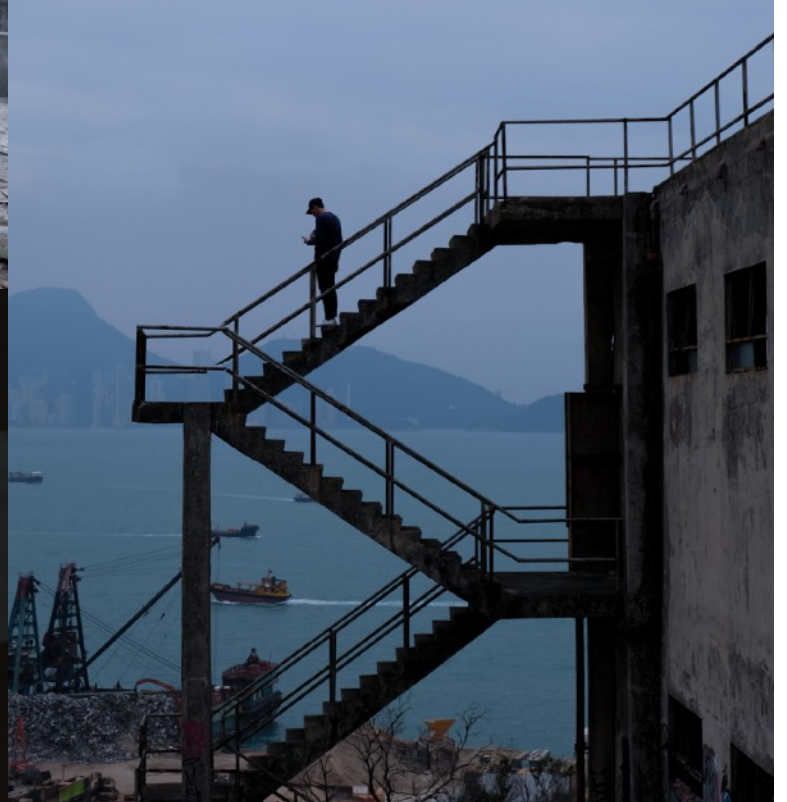

This is a self-initiated project called "Time." I tried to convey the five stages of a human kind in a rapid-pace city, Hong Kong. With the long exposure effect, the photos express the sense of the time flow.

Abandoned Hong Kong

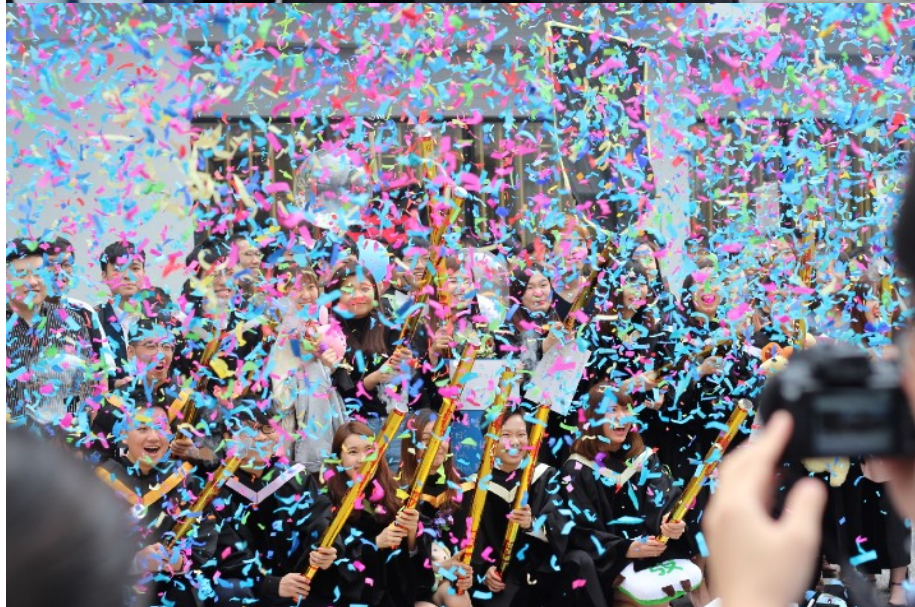

This is also a self-initiated project called “Abandoned Hong Kong.” As an international student, I am eager to explore the secret side of Hong Kong like ruins or abandoned places. Thus, I visited some abandoned places like factory and hospital in previous two years.

Graduation

This is a commercial case for being a cameraman in the graduation ceremony. For many of us, graduation is a sad moment since we have to encounter the reality outside the university. However, that is the reason why I have to record all the smile before that.

When I went to a service trip in Sri Lanka, the passionate children inspired me to capture the purity of the childhood and, the most precious, the people in Sri Lanka.
